Language of instruction	English
Goals	Preparation of the student about different aspects of working as a researcher, including writing a PhD proposal in the second year of the Research Master BR or Research Master EFR.
Description	This skill consists of following research seminars within each of the six research programs of the Graduate School of Business and Economics. The lectures relate to research being done at SBE and/or about aspects that are relevant for publishing research. For BR research master students, the students will in addition work during second semester on an individual small research project, in which they apply the knowledge obtained from the methodology courses within the RM BR on a topic of their interest. At the end of this skill in period 6 the student hands in a short paper on their research project. For EFR research master students, students will follow additional specific research seminars, which include pre-discussions in small groups.'
Literature	Articles.
Prerequisites	This course can only be chosen as part of the 2 year Research Master education (BR or EFR).
