Goals The goal of this course is to understand economic and business issues in various emerging markets.

Description This course covers the business environment in various emerging markets from a broad perspective. It does not have a fixed content, block period, or teacher. Instead, it is meant to cover, in a flexible way, countries and regions that fall outside the regular offerings available to the bachelors students within the specialisation Emerging Markets.

Students who participate in this course have to register for it in period 2, even if the course has been given earlier in the same academic year.

Literature Collection of articles and book chapters.

Prerequisites Second-year courses in the Emerging Markets specialization within either the International Business bachelor or the Economics and Business Economics bachelor.
