| Goals | In a globalised and changing world, emerging markets may provide different perspectives.This skill training aims at linking theoretical perspectives to a 2 week trip in a particular emerging country.The trip is organised in collaboration with Scope. |
| Description | Prior to the trip, teams of 3 to 4 students should define a paper proposal for an economic question associated to the visiting countries' economy. This results in a short background paper due before the trip.During the trip, under the supervision of a staff member discussions with experts working in government institutions, banks, international organisations and large firms are organised in order to shed new light on the topics.Within a week after the trip, teams of students will deliver, visit summaries, a 4000-6000 words paper on the topic confronting theoretical and practical views, and an individual reflections. |
