Global Supply Chain Management focuses on why and how companies engage in international supply chain activities. Motives, barriers, risks, partnership(s) and the organization of global supply chain are key topics. Coping with various supply chain disruptions is a recurring challenge for companies and the students in this course.

Tutorials evolve around student presentations and discussion of relevant literature and case studies. Normally, subgroups of students take turns in presenting the highlights of the assigned literature or case material, as well as providing additional material (relevant academic articles, cases, and examples).
