Goals	This course looks at the role of innovation in the modern economy. The main goal of the course is to understand how firms' innovation strategies affect (and are affected by) the economic, technological and social context which surrounds them. To achieve this goal students are required to write (in small groups) a business case which focuses on defining an appropriate innovation strategy for an existing or start-up firm depending on four different hypothetical scenarios which might characterize the Netherlands' economy and society in 2040.

THE MOST UP-TO-DATE INFORMATION ABOUT THE TEACHING/ASSESSMENT METHOD(S) WILL BE AVAILABLE IN THE COURSE SYLLABUS. This is a course about innovation and how firms, in interaction with their technological, economic, and social environment, create, use, and take advantage of it. To tackle these issues, the course combines a theoretical perspective with highly practical elements on innovation processes in firms. What distinguishes this course from other courses on innovation in your study program is its explicit focus on the broader economic context of innovation. In other words, this course does not just look at what happens within the innovating firm or its immediate environment but also considers the impact of innovation on the economy as a whole. The course aims to answer the following main questions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> * What is an innovative firm? * What are the other actors of the economic context in which firms operate? * How do firms interact in the economic context? * What are (for firms) the capabilities needed to adapt to changes and to sustain innovation processes? * How can firms be incentivized to innovate?
